My husband, Ethan, and his brother, Aiden, are identical twins. They look exactly alike, but their personalities are completely different. Ethan is the responsible one, while Aiden is the carefree one. I love Ethan dearly, but there is something about Aiden that just sets my heart racing.

I have tried to fight my feelings, but I can't. Every time I see Aiden, I feel like I am being pulled in two directions. I want to be with Ethan, but I also want to be with Aiden.

I know that this is wrong, but I can't help myself. I am addicted to the double dose of temptation that my husband's twin brother offers me.

I have tried to talk to Ethan about my feelings, but he doesn't understand. He thinks that I am just confused about my feelings for him. He doesn't know that I am actually in love with his brother.

I don't know what to do. I can't keep lying to Ethan, but I also don't want to lose him. I am trapped in a double bind, and I don't know how to get out.
