Early Years: Embracing a Life Beyond Boundaries

Born in 1954 in a small town in Yorkshire, England, Susie arrived into the world with spina bifida and hydrocephalus, conditions that presented significant physical challenges. Undeterred, her parents instilled in her a belief that she could achieve anything she set her mind to, regardless of her disability.

From a young age, Susie exhibited an extraordinary determination and resilience. Susie recognized the importance of community and belonging for people with disabilities. She established the Yorkshire Disability Resource Centre, a vibrant hub that provided a wide range of services, including support groups, employment training, and social activities.

The center became a lifeline for many people with disabilities, offering a sense of community, empowerment, and a place where they could connect with others who understood their challenges and aspirations. Susie's vision of a more inclusive and supportive society was taking shape, one step at a time.

Personal Growth and Transformation: Embracing Life's Challenges

Susie's journey was not without its setbacks and personal challenges. In her early thirties, she experienced a profound spiritual awakening that led her to reassess her life and priorities. She embraced a holistic approach to well-being, incorporating meditation, yoga, and nature into her daily routine.
